Azerbaijan State Economic University SABAH group "World Economy"

Jafarli Amrah Nadir oglu

"Evaluation of the Analysis of the Relationship between International Tourism Arrivals, GDP and Trade in Germany"

In the research work which consists of two main and six subheadings, the author conducted research the place and role of German tourism in the world economy. In the first chapter, the student presents research on the features of international tourism, tourism opportunities in Germany and the role of German tourism in international tourism.

The second chapter deals with the relationship between international tourism and macroeconomic indicators. The author notes that the role of tourism in Germany's economy, trade and GDP is exceptionally high.

The author also outlined the methods used in the study.

So, in my opinion, the student has covered the subject matter of the case and can submit it to the graduation commission to defend the graduation.
